

The Man on the Sandbox

by L. C. Davis

GOOD WORK.

THERE was a young man named Melillo Who capered around second pillow He fielded the pill With a veteran's skill, And wielded a wallowing willow.

Yes, Bo!

THE north wind doth blow And we shall have snow, And what will the Robins do then, Poor things? They hop on the Browns And round them play several rings, Poor things.

Quite So.

As we get it a New Yorker is one who lives in Palm Beach in winter and somewhere up in the Adirondacks in summer. He is an expert on highballs but wouldn't know a snowball if he'd see one.

"Theater Sued by Minstrel Performers." Indicating that the end man didn't get his "bones."

LOOK OUT!

THE witnesses and friends depart. The piper has been duly paid. Of Cupid's wiles and speeding dart, He says he is no more afraid. But, we would like to make a bet, They'll get him yet, they'll get him yet!

It is claimed that liquor is sold daily under the dome of the Capitol. But that doesn't prove that it is capital liquor.

Looks like the bootleggers are going after the dry vote.

TOO TRUE.

One of our valued customers suggests the following improvement in traffic regulations: "Electric stop and go signs to operate police whistles, too; so the blind drivers will know when to stop and go!" As the "cheaters" are deaf as well as blind the only thing to stop them would be a signal that automatically lets down a crossing gate.

WELL, BROTHER BONES?

Mrs. Frank Tinney has applied to have her interlocutory divorce made final. Indicating that Tinney is a better end man than an interlocutor.

"Crime Survey by Harvard."

WERE bears on physiology And sharks on etymology Of bughouse entomology we know a thing or two. So now without apology, We'll tackle criminology To find out why the criminals perform the way they do.

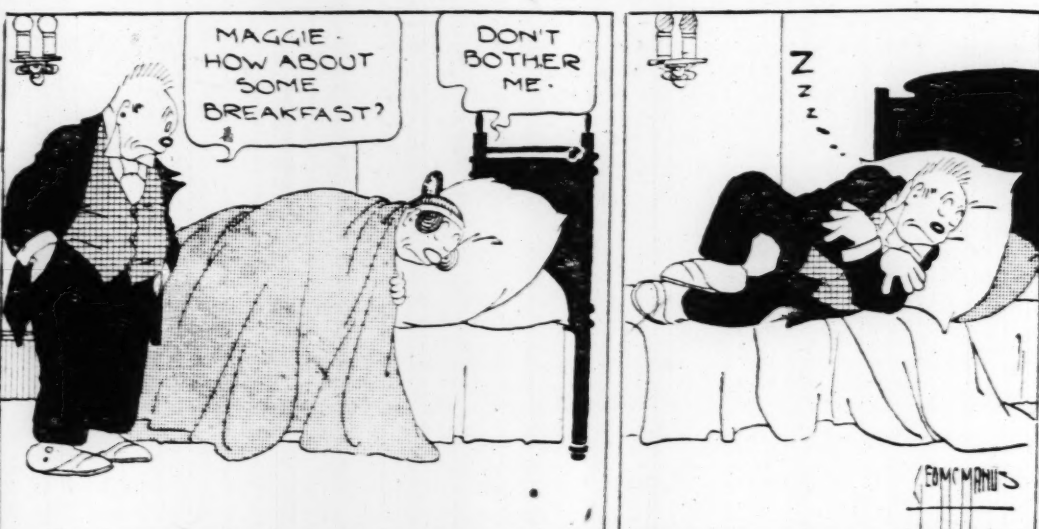

The man on the sandbox says he has noticed that in March you can always look for considerable March weather.

"Nation-wide Dope Ring Found Here."

Looks like tough sledding for the snowbirds.

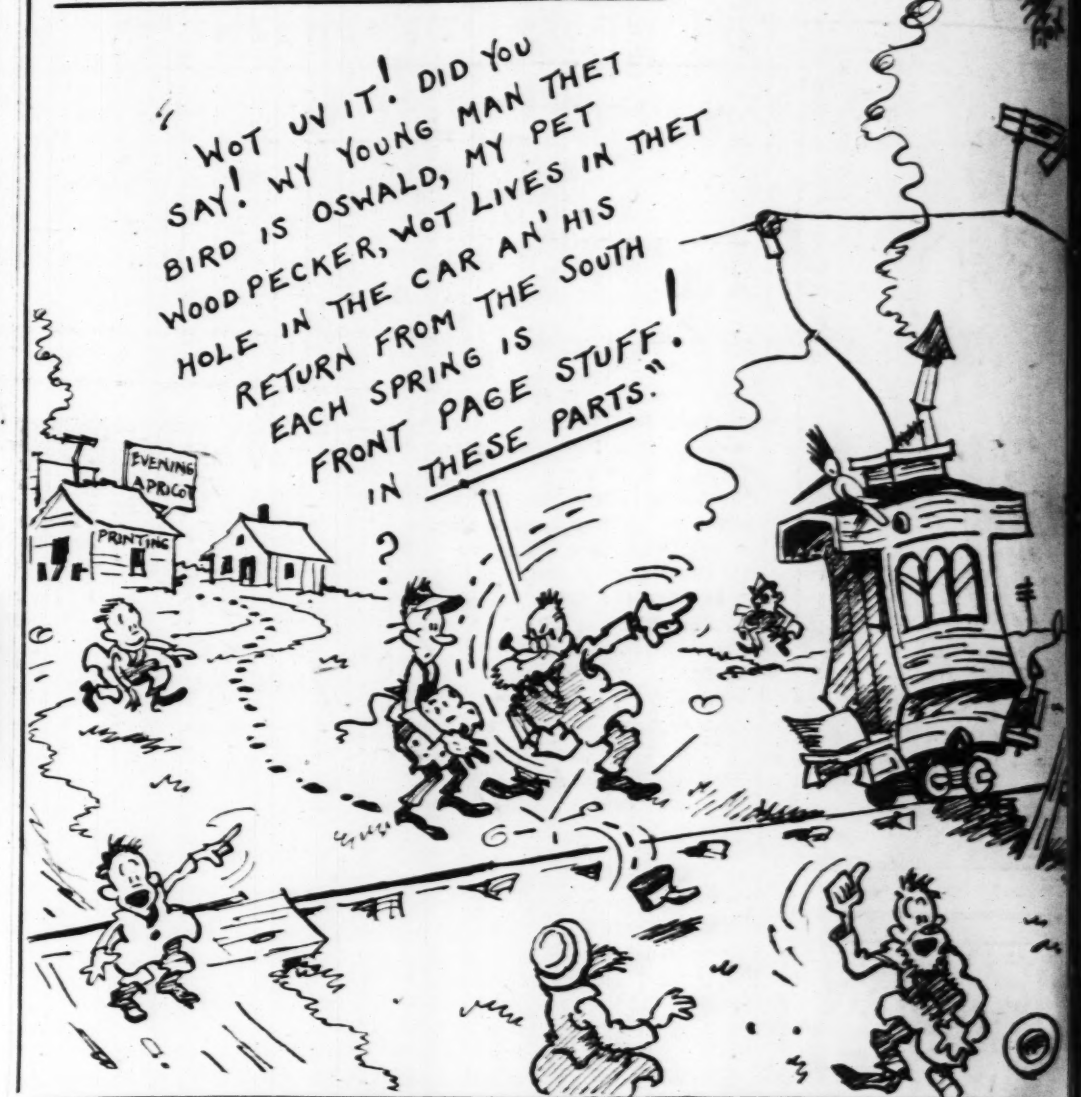

Between the dope rings, whisky rings and political rings we could stage a pretty fair three-ring circus.

ILLNESS PLEA BEGUNConference With Judge Broke Off When Their Attorney Fainted.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, March 17.—Efforts to obtain probation for John W. Thompson, millionaire St. Louis contractor, and Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans' Bureau, were begun here today.

The United States Supreme Court tomorrow will issue an order to the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals announcing its refusal to review the case, and upon its receipt that court will advise the Federal District Court here, which will then be in position to issue the mandate giving effect to the sentences imposed.

Order on Convictions Tomorrow.

The actual commitment of either man "would be tantamount to a death sentence," Attorney F. B. Johnston declared this morning in a conference with Federal Judge Carpenter. The conference was broken off when Johnston fainted and was taken home suffering with influenza.

Forbes to Go to Prison.
In spite of the probation proceedings, Forbes left Chicago last night intending to surrender himself at Leavenworth and thus escape being taken into custody by a Marshal. He arrived in Kansas City today, where it is understood he will wait until the time for commitment arrives. He walked with a limp from a recent paralytic stroke.

Thompson, who resides at 17 Hortense place, is in St. Luke's Hospital, having undergone a hernia operation, and his attorney, Randolph Laughlin, insists he is too sick to be taken to prison. However, Laughlin is not willing to discuss what steps may be taken to forestall his commitment. Thompson has been informed of the failure of the last legal resource to have the conviction reversed by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Forbes saw Laughlin in St. Louis last week, saying he was on his way to the penitentiary to surrender, but returned to Chicago when advised he would not be received at the prison until the Supreme Court had acted.

John Bull, London Waiter, Dies.
LONDON, March 17.—One of the best known waiters in London, John Bull of the Old Cheshire Cheese in Fleet street, is dead at the age of 80. He was a familiar figure to hundreds of American visitors to London because of his quaint wit and his physical resemblance to the traditional figure of John Bull. John Bull was his real name.

BASES PLEA FOR NEW TRIAL
ON REMARK BY ONE OF JURYAttorney for 17-Year-Old Autolest Convicted of Killing a Child Files Affidavit.

In an affidavit filed today with Circuit Judge Hartmann, John Neu, attorney, charges that while he was arguing the case of a 17-year-old client, John Webbe, before a Juvenile Court jury, Monday, one of the jurors remarked: "Don't talk to me; talk to the other 12 men." He seeks a new trial as a result.

An automobile driven by Webbe struck and killed Mary Beckley, 11 years old, of 1024 Mississippi avenue, on Aug. 22. His punishment was set at a year in jail and a fine of $500.

Neu said in his affidavit that the juror who made the remark, later named foreman of the jury, was Albert J. Cordes, a grocer of 2809 Keokuk street.

"When Neu made his argument," Cordes said today, "he directed all his remarks at me, shaking his finger in my face and shouting, 'I got tired of it finally and I said, 'there are other men in this box.' But I didn't tell him not to talk to me."

SEVEN NEW DEPUTIES VOTED FOR MILLER

Eighth Recent Appointee to Staff of 11 Declares His Ballot Is Secret.

Seven of 11 Deputy Marshals appointed recently by City Marshal Duffy, supplanting old employees of the office, told the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen yesterday they had voted for Mayor Miller. Another, a Negro, said he considered his ballot secret. Three remain to be examined.

Marshal Duffy is a Miller appointee and his substitution of deputies is regarded at City Hall as a move to provide administration men with jobs. Alderman Eilers, who is not in sympathy with the Mayor's activities, instigated the inquiry to learn why the changes were made.

Deputy Charles Kratky, an uncle of Robert J. Kratky, Mayor Miller's campaign manager, declared his nephew had had nothing to do with his appointment.

All the witnesses insisted no political pull had been exerted to get them the jobs, which pay $115 a month. They said they had not been coached for the Efficiency Board examination.

Resident of High Rent District. Deputy L. C. Stevenson stated he resided at the Savoy Court Apartments, Union and Delmar boulevards, and formerly was a private detective. The place of Stevenson's residence surprised some of the Aldermen, who recalled that rents in that neighborhood amounted to about as much, or more than Stevenson's salary.

"I can explain if you'll let me," said Stevenson, but an Alderman interrupted, saying, "I guess that's not a surprise since we have some city firemen living at the Gatesworth Hotel."

Another pointed out that some Aldermen live in cheaper neighborhoods. "Bring in a witness from Hotel Chase," said Alderman Wilmer, facetiously, and Stevenson was dismissed without getting a chance to explain.

One Admits Auto Arrest. Deputy Henry Mabel, a former clothing salesman, admitted he had been arrested recently for making a wrong turn with his automobile and for a parking violation. He said he had taken the oath of office, which includes a statement that the affiant owes the city nothing, but that it was administered so rapidly he probably didn't hear it all. He believed he had been fined by default for the wrong turn, having trusted to his brother to take care of the case while he was out of town.

It was Deputy George Martin, a Negro, who declined to tell how he voted in the mayoralty election.

WILL FILE NEW PETITION TO DISINCORPORATE TOWN

Fairview City Controversy. Apparently Settled Once by County Court. Renewed.

When Circuit Judge Wurdeman decided that the St. Louis County Court could not act on a petition to disincorporate Fairview City, because of an error in the caption of the petition bearing 775 names, it appeared that peace would reign together with the city administration.

However, another challenge was sounded today with the announcement that a new petition bearing 1952 names would be filed with the County Court, April 12. Publication was ordered, in compliance with the law.

The original petition for incorporation, signed by 401 taxpayers, purported to represent the will of a majority of the taxpayers of the community of 2000. Incorporation was granted on this petition.

The protestors then presented their petition to the Court, alleging that 299 signatures to the petition for incorporation were obtained by misrepresentation, and that the necessary number, two-thirds of the legal voters, had signed the petition to disincorporate. Judge Wurdeman held that the petition was faulty.

Curling and Waving Dries

Life from Hair

The constant curling and waving demanded by present styles in bobbed hair, slowly burns the color, luster and very life from the hair, leaving it dry, faded, brittle, and full of dandruff; then the hair roots shrink and the hair falls out fast.

Since girls just must curl and wave the hair to appear their prettiest, try "Danderine" to offset any bad effects. After the first application your hair will take on new life and that healthy, youthful luster, become incomparably soft, wavy and appear twice as thick and abundant. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears.

A 35-cent bottle of refreshing "Danderine" from any drug store or toilet counter will do wonders for any girl's hair. It goes right to the roots, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.

Here's Real Relief from Neuritis

In 24 Hours Pains Cease and You Get Rest and Comfort Again.

Torturing pains—the kind that pierce and burn and never seem to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and all worn out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only relieve. You've got to get something more lasting.

The quickest, safest and surest way to get rid of the persistent, nerve-racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenbur's Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take these little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced if not entirely banished those severe, torturing pains that have caused you so many sleepless nights. Continue for two or three days more or until the pains have entirely disappeared.

It doesn't matter how long you may have suffered or whether your Neuritis is in the shoulder, arm, neck or leg. Allenbur's Special Formula No. 2 will stop the torturing and give you speedy relief.

Johnson Bros. Drug Co., 211 and Washington Ave., and Grand and Olive St., or any good druggist, will be glad to supply you.

Gold Rush Near Nome Continues.

By the Associated Press.
NOME, Alaska, March 17.—A gold strike at Bluff, 60 miles north of here, attracted more attention
today as reports from stampedeers returning to Nome became known.
Dog teams are leaving here daily for the strike. A hundred claims have been staked along the Bering Sea beach and much prospecting has been done.

FIVE YEARS FOR MAKING A FRAUDULENT MORTGAGE

Negro Convicted by Jury for Giving Paper on Organ Previously Incumbered.

Benjamin Austin, 39 years old,
a Negro, of 4457 Enright avenue,
was convicted yesterday by a jury in Circuit Judge Landwehr's court of making a fraudulent second mortgage. His punishment was fixed at five years in the penitentiary. He had previously got the same sentence last April, but had obtained a new trial.

Testimony showed he gave Raef
H. Williams, Negro, a second mortgage on an organ in Austin's motion picture show at 4262W Finney avenue. Later the organ was sold to satisfy a first mortgage and Williams found he had no security for his notes.

CITY JOBHOLDER, HELD INELIGIBLE, TO QUIT

Dr. R. A. Gunter to Resign as Tuberculosis Controller After Ruling by Gentry.

As a result of an opinion announced today by Attorney General Gentry, Hospital Commissioner Shankland said Dr. R. A. Gunter would resign as Tuberculosis Controller of St. Louis, which office he has held for two weeks.
His successor has not been chosen.

The opinion holds that the Tu-bererculosis Controller must possess a license to practice medicine in Missouri. Dr. Gunter has no such license. The State Board of Health has ruled that Dr. Gunter is ineligible to take an examination for a Missouri license, unless he submits more credentials than he has so far produced.

Hospital Commissioner Shankland, in announcing he would appoint Dr. Gunter, a Government physician, to succeed Dr. H. L.
Spector as Controller, at $3600 a year, said the work was purely administrative and a Missouri medical license would not be required.
The opinion announced today contradicts this, and holds that the Controller, although not personally practicing medicine, acts in a medical capacity, as head of a city department, and is paid for his work, and therefore comes within the scope of the statute requiring licenses.

Dr. Gunter recently applied to the State Board of Health for a license, submitting as his qualifications a certificate of graduation from the Atlanta (Ga.) School of Medicine in 1916, a Georgia medical license and his experience of two years in the army and seven years in the Veterans' Bureau.

Dr. James Stewart, secretary of the board, said Dr. Gunter failed to submit credentials showing he possessed a high school education, or its equivalent. There is no medical reciprocity between the States of Missouri and Georgia, and unless Dr. Gunter produces high school credits, he is ineligible to take an examination for a Missouri license.
The next examination will be held in St. Louis in July.

COMB SAGE TEA
INTO GRAY HAIR

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients. It is known as Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur Compound and can be obtained at all drug stores for only 75 cents a bottle.

While gray faded hair is not all that we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

Try Dr. Blosser's Medical Cigarettes in the Next Attack

Nasal catarrh is not only disagreeable and offensive, but it will lead to serious trouble. That inflamed condition of the mucous membrane of the air passages of the head, nose and throat may spread to the point where it is incurable and a danger to life.

Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes are composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries. The warm smoke vapor is inhaled into the affected air passages and will go where sprays, douches and salves cannot reach. They contain no tobacco or cubebs, and being harmless, are used by women and children, as well as men.

If you suffer from any catarrhal trouble, plain nasal catarrh, rhinitis, or any subject in frequent colds, use from six cigarettes a day until you are cured. Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes and never for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.

For Throbbing Headaches

Don't let throbbing headaches make you cross and miserable, lowering your vitality and efficiency. Physicians are prescribing a formula called A-VOL that subdues pain almost like magic, yet is absolutely harmless, because it does not depress the heart. Handy little packages at all druggists.

Follow This Rule

in skin care if safeguarding a good complexion is your aim

By NORMA TALMADGE

It is bringing the charm of natural loveliness to thousands

BEAUTY experts throughout the world now urge skin cleansing as beauty's most important aid.

Yesterday's artificial methods are quickly passing. Youthful appearance is thus preserved. Beautiful complexions by the thousands are resulting.

The rule is simple. No costly beauty methods, just the soothing olive and palm lather of Palmolive used in this way:

FOLLOW THIS ONE WEEK—THEN NOTE YOUR COMPLEXION

Wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often cause them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

Remember that before Palmolive came, women were told, "no soap on your face." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Palmolive is a beauty soap made for one purpose only: to safeguard your complexion. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Millions of pretty skins prove its effectiveness beyond all doubt.

BE SURE TO GET THE REAL PALMOLIVE
It costs but 10¢ the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

FAILS TO FIND SUNKEN
GOLD; ENDS LIFE

Treasure Seeker Made Many Ventures to Recover Bullion Lost at Sea in Storm.

By the Associated Press.
OAKLAND, Cal., March 17.—The ashes of Eugene C. May, chemist and adventurer, will sink beneath the waters of the Pacific to rest upon the treasure trove that he sought so hard, but failed to find. May died yesterday in the county hospital here from knife wounds self-inflicted as a result of disappointment over repeated failures to reach the treasure box of the schooner Gen. Grant, which sank in a storm off the Auckland Islands in 1886, while carrying a group of miners from the Ballarat gold fields in Australia to their homes in England. There were $2 in the ship's company—about 15 were saved. One of the survivors showed May where the Grant sank in but a few fathoms of water. He also told him that there was $10,000,000 in bullion and dust in the ship's strong box.

May fitted out an expedition in Australia in 1912. He was ready to square away to the Auckland when the Titanic went down. There was a hue and cry around the world for another and safer ship equipment and May could not meet the demand. He abandoned the expedition after losing some $60,000.

Later he tried again, planning to start from California. But once more the scheme failed, while the $10,000,000 in sunken gold continued to taunt him.

Other ventures collapsed, and May, sick and despondent, he finally gave up and put a knife to his wrists in his cheap Oakland lodgings. Friends found him before death came and sent him to the hospital, where he died.

P. H. Simpson, a friend, is to take his ashes to the Auckland with an expedition that he is fitting up for another try at the Grant's long-submerged treasure. The ashes will be spread over the ocean where the Grant went down. May, who was 68, was a graduate of three universities and a soldier of fortune. He obtained some rich farming lands in Mexico a number of years ago, but Pancho Villa stripped him of these holdings. He was a native of France, but was naturalized in 1880.

STORY ABOUT ALLEN CURRY

Federal Grand Jury at Jefferson City Completes Inquiry Into Article Published There.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 16.—A no true bill was returned here yesterday by a Federal grand jury in the United States District Court, which investigated a story published recently in the Jefferson City Daily Post, charging Allen Curry, United States District Attorney, at St. Louis, with alleged immoral conduct.

It is understood the investigation centered around publication and distribution of the papers, in which the article appeared, by Haber Nations, former State Labor Commissioner, who is publisher of the Daily Post.

The investigation was to determine if it further understood, whether the article violated the Federal statutes against sending obscene matter through the mail.

CITIZENSHIP PLEA FOR POLITICAL OFFENDERS

Coolidge to Be Asked to Issue Proclamation Restoring Rights to 1500 Persons.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Efforts to secure restoration of citizenship of all persons convicted for expressions of opinion during the war are being made by the civic and religious organizations which supported the campaign for amnesty for political prisoners, as a result of which President Coolidge released all those remaining in prison in December, 1925.

President Coolidge will be asked to consider the cases of all such ex-political prisoners in connection with the movement initiated to restore citizenship to Eugene V.
Debs. Attorneys for the American Civil Liberties Union have submitted to Attorney General Sargent memoranda covering similar action by the Federal Government following the Civil War.

The statement says that "over 1500 persons, according to official reports, were convicted under the espionage act and other laws controlling opinion during the war."

It points out that only through a general proclamation by the President can their civil rights be practically restored. Action would be impracticable in 1500 separate cases and would "result in injustices because most of the persons cannot be reached directly to inform them of the procedure."

News of a general proclamation, it is felt, would eventually reach
all of them.
"It is inconceivable," says the memorandum, "that these persons are to be deprived permanently of their civil rights for offenses under special laws passed to control an emergency, and since repealed.
They were guilty only of expressions of opinion. The time has arrived for the exercise of the power vested in the President to restore to them the right of American citizenship."

How Skinny Kids Gain Needed Weight

Weak, undernourished, underweight boys and girls who are peevish, fretful and sickly need McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.
Cod Liver Oil would do just as well, but what parent would be so cruel as to give them the horrible nasty tasting, ill smelling stuff, when sugar-coated cod liver oil tablets made by McCoy's Laboratories of New York are as easy to take as candy and won't upset their delicate stomachs.

There's more vitamins of the first class in cod liver oil than in anything else and for that reason thin, scraggly, sickly children commence to live up and take on good healthy flesh after McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets have been taken for just a few days.

To cure and ask Wolff's Drug Store,
St. Louis, for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets. If you want your delicate children to become strong, robust and active.

For grown-ups there are just as wonderful. A woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks. 60 tablets 60 cents and if they don't put five pounds of good firm flesh on any thin man or woman in 30 days, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

Suit Over Name on Cigars.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 17.—Objecting to the use of her name on cigar bands and boxes, Mme. Maria Jeritza, Austria soprano, now with the Metropolitan Opera Company, has filed a $25,000 damage suit against Louis and Isadore Cohen, cigar manufacturers of the Bronx. The prima donna charges that her name was used for a brand of cigars and that a picture of a costumed woman, resembling herself, appeared on the cigar boxes.

The proper care of your teeth and gums

Brilliant teeth and coral gums

MOUTH beauty has become more important these days than almost any other. At one time bad teeth and unhealthy gums, with their usual accompaniment—an unpleasant breath—were looked upon as more or less of a misfortune. Now people realize that these defects frequently result from carelessness, neglect, or from improper methods of dental hygiene. So they are not now so readily excused.

And now that the full effects of Squibb's Dental Cream are becoming common knowledge there is less excuse than ever for tooth decay and gum infection. Acids cause teeth to decay. Some attack tooth enamel. Others irritate the gums and predispose them to disease. The problem is to keep these acids neutralized and consequently harmless.

Squibb's Dental Cream does just that. It contains more than 50 per cent of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia—a safe, effective antacid. After each brushing with Squibb's Dental Cream, tiny particles of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia remain in the crevices at The Danger Line—where gums meet teeth. They neutralize harmful acids for a considerable period.

Thus Squibb's Dental Cream protects against both tooth decay and gum infection. If you want brilliant teeth and coral gums, begin its use today. At drug stores everywhere—only 40 cents a tube.

AT THE AGE OF 83

Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Month-Peppin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purgative" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup

St. Louis today has two notable visitors from the War Department—Secretary of War Davis and Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, Chief of Air Service.

Secretary Davis arrived here Monday to be present at the reunion today of the 138th Infantry, which he entered as a Captain in the early days of the World War. He is expected to attend the election of officers at the Armory at Grand boulevard and Market street this afternoon and the annual reunion dance there this evening. He will return to Washington tonight.

Gen. Patrick is here for an inspection of Scott Field and the RS-1, largest semirigid dirigible in the world, which is getting its final test flights at the field this week.

Lieutenant-Colonel John A. Pangelov, commanding Scott Field, called for the General at 9 a. m. today at the Racquet Club, where he was stopping, and escorted him to the field for the inspection.

ALVIN C. YORK QUITS AS HEAD OF MOUNTAIN SCHOOL BOARD

World War Hero Announces He Will Build Such an Institution With an Individual Fund.

By the Associated Press.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 17.—Sergt. Alvin C. York, one of the heroes of the World War, has resigned as chairman of the board of trustees of the Alvin C. York Agricultural Institute for educating mountain children of his native county of Fentress and announced he is starting out to build such a school with an individual fund of about $15,000 as a nucleus.

A fund of $100,000 has been raised for the institute, half appropriated by the State Legislature and half given by the county. In his letter of resignation York said he was severing connection with it because he had been "hampered by the inaction of the majority of my committee and failing thereby to obtain that co-operation which is so necessary in any high and altruistic endeavor."

$5000 VERDICT FOR INJURIES WHEN AUTO HIT STRAY MULE

Clerk Alleged Company Owning Animal Was Negligent in Letting Animal Roam.

A verdict for $5000 was returned yesterday by a jury in Circuit Judge Kilborn's court in favor of William F. Lins Jr., a clerk, against the Bookeler Lumber Co. for injuries suffered by him when an automobile he was driving struck a stray mule.

The accident occurred shortly after midnight on Oct. 2 last on the St. Charles road in St. Louis County. The mule, property of the lumber company, was killed. Lins suffered personal injuries and his machine was wrecked. He sued for $7500, alleging that the owner of the mule was negligent in permitting it to roam around.

Miss Eleanor M. Sosna Charged Louis Molasky Failed to Free Apartment of Vermin.

A judgment of $31.19 was granted yesterday by Justice of the Peace Wernecker at Clayton in favor of Miss Eleanor M. Sosna, in her $300 suit against her former landlord, Louis Molasky, from whom she leased an apartment at 6609 Clemens avenue, University City, on Oct. 2 last.

Miss Sosna testified in a hearing on the suit that Molasky promised to have the house free of vermin when she and her brother, Harry, moved in. Both she and her brother testified, however, that they found the house infested with roaches and other forms of insect life. Molasky denied the charge.

The monthly rent of the apartment was $50. The Sosnas lived there one week so Justice Wernecker ordered their rent for the balance of the month, $21.19, refunded to them. Miss Sosna had also asked judgment for damage to furniture and mental anguish.

WEBSTER GROVES APPROVES THREE BOND ISSUE PROJECTS

New City Hall and Playground Proposals Defeated at Special Election.

Bonds to a total of $175,000 were voted yesterday at a special election in Webster Groves to provide a more adequate water distribution system, additional fire department equipment and foot subways under railroad tracks near public schools. Proposals for $225,000 bonds for five parks and playgrounds, and $45,000 bonds for a new city hall were defeated.

For increased water facilities $150,000 was voted. This will be used to build a 300,000-gallon reservoir, to lay a 12-inch main to the main line of the St. Louis County Water Co., and to replace present two-inch mains with eight-inch and six-inch mains where needed. The vote was 1819 for and 441 against.

The vote on the $10,000 item for subways was 1670 for and 593 against, and for fire department equipment, including a new pumper, 1925 for and 502 against. The city hall item failed by 55 votes of receiving the required two-thirds majority, the vote being 1493 for and 808 against, and the parks and playgrounds item failed by 234, the vote being 1335 for and 929 against.

Consideration is being given by proponents of the full bond-issue plans to resubmit the defeated items at another special election. Interparliamentary Agenda. GENEVA, March 17.—Reduction of world armaments, a campaign against habit-forming drugs and the elaboration of a European customs union will make up the agenda for six permanent commissions of the Interparliamentary Union which have been called by the Executive Committee of the union to meet at Geneva next August. The studies will be carried out in accord with the decisions reached by the union's meeting at Washington last year, and the results will form the basis of the 1927 conference of the union, which, it is expected, will be held in Paris.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN INVESTIGATES GHOUL'S VISIT TO KIN'S TOMB

Mrs. Mitchell C. Markham at Windsor, Ont.—No Motive Established for Desecration.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WINDSOR, Ont., March 17.—Mrs. Mitchell C. Markham of 321 Belt avenue, St. Louis, arrived here yesterday to assist in an investigation of the desecration of the tomb of her sister, Miss S. A. Lavin, by ghouls, who are believed to have entered the Lavin mausoleum in Assumption Cemetery last Saturday.

No motive has been established for entering the tomb and opening the crypt in which the body of Miss Lavin lay. The bronze door of the tomb had been pried open, investigation disclosed, and the invaders had lifted the marble slab from the crypt in which was Miss Lavin's coffin.

The glass lid of the casket had not been tampered with, however, and no apparent effort had been made to remove the body. The caskets of a brother, John D. Lavin, and a sister, Mrs. M. E. Downing, also occupying crypts in the mausoleum, were not disturbed. Miss Lavin, a wealthy spinster, died Sept. 23, 1921, at Anaheim, Cal., the Lavin home, where her brother and sister also died. The body was sent here for interment in Assumption Cemetery, which is at Sandwich, just south of this city. Mrs. Markham, the wife of the assistant to the vice president of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, has offered a reward for the apprehension of the ghouls. Detectives have photographed several specimen finger prints on the tomb, some of which, they believe, were made by a woman.

NO BREAD MONOPOLY, SAYS BAKERY HEAD

Chairman of Continental Company Declares It Makes Only 4 Per Cent of Output.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The Continental Baking Co., through George G. Barber, chairman of the board of directors, admits limiting the activity of officers, directors and stockholders of firms it acquired, but says that its holdings in 83 firms cannot create a monopoly as the company produces only 4.2 per cent of the bread consumed in this country.

Barber is testifying before John W. Addison, examiner for the Federal Trade Commission, yesterday said that members of companies acquired were forbidden by contract to re-enter the bakery business within five years or within 50 miles of their original business.

He said that 57,000,000 persons were served in the territory where the Continental company operates. The Continental's daily business, based on a five-day week, averaged 2,300,000 pounds of bread and rolls, or 8 per cent of the bakery bread consumed. He said that probably 40 per cent of the households still baked their own bread.

He testified that in the territory where the Continental company operates, it owns 857 ovens out of a total of 38,520.

A statement issued by the company showed that in the 83 cities where the Continental company operates, only 19 have shown decreases in small bakery business, and these were attributed to causes other than competition of the combine.

Business done by the small bakers was found to be substantially the same in 27 cities as before the merger, while 38 showed an increase.

The report attributed the increase in all bakery business to the advertising campaigns carried on by the Continental company in favor of bakers' bread.

Monopoly of the bread business is impossible because of the ability of housewives to do their own baking, should quality be lowered or prices become prohibitive, the statement said.

Kills Father-in-Law in Blow.

Ballard Brooks, 58 years old, a Negro of 118A North Ninth street, East St. Louis, was shot and killed in his home last night by his son-in-law, Frank Pigeon, who escaped after the shooting, which resulted from a family quarrel.

WAS ALL RUN DOWN AFTER OPERATION

Avoided second operation. Used Milk's Emulsion. Is now picture of health.

"I had a very severe operation which left me in a miserable condition, badly constipated, female trouble, kidney trouble, stomach trouble could not eat or sleep. I felt as if life was of no use to me. Several doctors told me that I would never be better until I had another operation. One year ago I commenced taking Milk's Emulsion, and I cannot praise it enough. I can eat and sleep like a baby, and the people of this town have seen what Milk's Emulsion has done for me and are now using it. It has been a God-send to me. I know it saved my life. I was nothing but a shadow of my former self when I began taking Milk's Emulsion, and now I look the picture of health. My parents are very thankful to you, as my sickness had cost them hundreds of dollars."

Ethel Hartman, Sallenville, Ohio.

Milk's Emulsion restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with the effects of wasting diseases, promotes appetite and quickly purges the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food, thus building flesh and strength, which are Nature's only aids in conquering germs and repairing the effects of wasting diseases.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk's Emulsion. If not satisfied with results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by druggists everywhere.

PLAN TO REMOVE BARGE TERMINUS TO CAIRO OPPOSED

Action Would Make St. Louis a Way Station on a Narrow Gauge, C. of C. Traffic Official Says.

OTHER AGENCIES JOIN IN PROTEST

Secretary of Merchants' Exchange Says Proposal Would Complicate Interchange of Traffic.

A proposition to place the southern terminus of the Upper Mississippi Barge line at Cairo instead of St. Louis, as planned heretofore has aroused vigorous protest from the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' Exchange, and shipping organizations.

"My impression is that the ultimate effect would be to stop the Lower River line at Cairo," commented P. W. Coyle, traffic commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce. "For St. Louis that would substitute for the proved service of the Government line the untried service of a semi-private line. The railroad parlane, St. Louis, instead of remaining a terminal on the main line, would become a way station on a 'narrow-gauge' between Calro and the Twin Cities.

"It would be greatly injurious, not only to the commerce of St. Louis, but I feel to the Federal Proposal Made Recently.

Theodore Brent of New Orleans, according to Washington

leams, according to Washington dispatches, advanced the proposal at a meeting of the Advisory Board of the Inland Waterway Corporation last Saturday. Under the organization of the Government corporation in 1924, Bren was taken from general management of the Federal lines and made ship of the Federal lines and major traffic manager, with operations under separate direction, but he has been active in planning operating methods and equipment for the Upper River line.

All prior discussion of the barge line on the Upper Mississippi had contemplated St. Louis as the Southern terminus, since St. Louis is the Northern terminus of the existing barge line and always has been a focal point for river exploitation. "Connect 'The Gateway of the Southwest' with 'The Gateway of the Northwest'" was advanced as a slogan by business men of St.

Paul and Minneapolis who sought support in a joint meeting with the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce two years ago.

Plan Offered Suddenly.

"I understand that there was no inkling beforehand of this new plan until it was sprung Saturday as a surprise proposition," said Charles Rippin, secretary of the Merchants' Exchange, which sent another protest to Washington.

"On the face of the proposal, as shown in newspaper accounts, it will amount to a messing up of two services between here and Cuba."

With one terminus at St. Louis and another in Cairo, the lower line will want to make its interchanges at its St. Louis terminal and the upper river line will want to make its interchanges at Cairo. We will be mixing the new baby with the old one, with a wonderful chance of creating another.

"More than that: The northern line not only wants to break into 200 miles developed by the existing line, but it wants, according to Mr. Brent's further proposition, to take $1,000,000 of the Federal line's money for equipment to make that encroachment. The original proposition was that the Upper Mississippi Barge Line Corporation build equipment worth $600,000 and lease it to the Inland Waterways Corporation for Federal operation. But under this new idea, the taxpayers would not only finance operation but also the Operating Manager's Statement. J. P. Higgins, operating manager of the existing barge line, which has demonstrated success in figures of $300,000 net profits last year, remarked, "I do not believe Gen. Ashbough will be able to change likely to deprive the present barge line of a part of its business and revenue. As to the advisability of running the lighter upper river equipment to Cairo, the only practical operating point advanced for the proposition, this service now is confined to most conditions.

in that section of the channel. Recently the Inland Waterways Corporation spent nearly $50,000 to place the shallow-draft two-boot 'Winoka' in commission to take care of St. Louis-Cairo service in periods of low water."

THE POST-DISPATCH PLAT-FORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of the people, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

House and Wilson.

ONE reading the so-called revelations of Col. House will be convinced that the age of the ingrate is with us. Mr. Wilson took this man House who was unknown outside of his immediate family and exposed his private life. Like all ingrates and egotists he betrayed the one who made him. He waited patiently until Mr. Wilson was dead and unable to answer before publishing his memoirs or revelations. One reading Mr. House's memoirs would be led to believe that he, Col. House, and not Woodrow Wilson, was elected as President of the United States, and Mr. Wilson merely a rubber stamp in the hands of Col. House. He, the Colonel, interviewed all the crowned heads of Europe as also the diplomats, ascertained their views, and then transmitted his orders to Mr. Wilson. The egotism of this man House is superlative. The name and fame of Woodrow Wilson will be revered and respected when Col. House and others of his ilk are dead and forgotten. A lucky thing that George Washington and Mr. Lincoln lived and died before the advent of Col. House, or it would be found the gallant Col. House was the Father of his Country, and he, not Mr. Lincoln, was the Emancipator.

Mr. Coolidge had better look to his laurels or he may wake up and find the modest Colonel will claim the credit of the reduction of the income tax of the millionaires and near millionaires.

Neglected Streets.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A part of the city in the neighborhood of Minnesota avenue and Catalina street, I write this letter in the hope that someone with influence with the proper official of our city may read same and do something. My complaint is in connection with our streets which are practically impassable on account of the holes and ruts, and deep mud in bad weather. The matter has been taken up with our Aldermen, several prominent politicians and the Director of Streets and Sewers. Nothing has been done and a year has passed. A bill is supposed to have been passed for the making of these streets. But when will it be done? Fire apparatus going over these streets in bad weather to a fire would never get there. This has happened. Also vehicles are forced almost to drive on the sidewalks to avoid getting stuck in the mud. In dry weather, to drive a machine through these streets is like going over the "Rocky Road to Dublin." If you think anything of your auto you leave it in the garage and continue to pay all the various taxes of taxes you must pay for the pleasure of using same during about two months of the year, when you must be satisfied to contend with a foot of dust.

Why is nothing done about this condition?

Our "Rapid Transit."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

HAVE been residing in St. Louis one year and the first thing I observed here was the "rapid transit" in operation on your street railway system. The way your cars travel is a joke. During the morning hours, when the great mass of people are in a hurry to get to their work, the cars travel at snail's pace so the motorman can stay within his time schedule. Which is the most important, a motorman staying on time or a mass of passengers getting to their destinations? The fault lies in the company allowing the car crew too much running time. And besides, at the terminus of each line the crews are allowed layover time, long enough to play a game of pool. If Rolla Wells or Col. Perkins would ride the Olive cars in the morning with three divisions on one track from 4:30 east, they would quickly adjust this fault.

Motormen should disregard all time schedules during the "going to work" hours and get us there. They could lose time and get back on schedule during the shoppers' hours of travel.

In Cincinnati, a much smaller town than St. Louis, the cars go around curves in the downtown district faster than St. Louis cars run in the suburbs.

A NEWCOMER.

Negro Health Week.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Missouri Negro Industrial Commission is making a special effort this year to have many colored citizens of the State observe Negro Health Week which will be held from April 4 to 10, inclusive. The State Department of Health, Department of Education, Department of Labor, have all offered their assistance in helping to put over a full week's program. Teachers are asked to stress some phase of health during the week and ministers are asked to speak upon the importance of good health on Sunday, April 4.

The slogan of Negro Health Week this year is "More Negro Health Work."

Persons desiring programs for this week may receive same by writing the secretary of the Negro Industrial Commission, Jefferson City, Mo.

Thanking you for your co-operation,

ROBERT S. COBB,
Executive Secretary, Missouri Negro Industrial Commission.

THE REAL BIG ISSUE.

Word comes from the East, where straw votes on the question of prohibition are flying, that prohibition is to be the big issue of the elections this year. There is no novelty in the news that prohibition is to be a big issue. It has been a big issue in American politics since its inception. Not only has it figured in special elections before the eighteenth amendment was adopted, but it has been the controlling issue in the selection of candidates in nearly all general elections.

Before Federal prohibition the prohibition issue was denounced as the herring across the trail, designed to obscure important economic issues. It was regarded as a device of the big interests to divert attention from their misdoings. But Federal prohibition will continue to be an issue until it is settled right, until the original vigor of constitutional restraints, state rights and individual liberties is restored.

That there has been a revival and intensification of the issue cannot be denied. Changes of sentiment with regard to its effects on morals and on public obedience to and respect for law are manifest. The straw votes show it, and there is strong evidence in Congress and throughout the country of the beginning of a vigorous fight for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the modification of the Volstead law.

The Post-Dispatch, however, differs with its Eastern contemporaries, which declare that "Federal prohibition is the big issue." The real big issue includes Federal prohibition, but is bigger than that. We regard the big issue, paramount at the present time, to be a return to constitutional government.

The one question to be settled now, as the Post-Dispatch has remarked, is whether the original republic, founded by the fathers, is to be preserved, or a Federal empire is to be established. The drift has steadily been towards empire, in the expansion of Federal powers and functions, the usurpation of state powers and functions by the Federal Government, the multiplication of meddlesome bureaus, interfering with business, education, industry, domestic life and individual conduct. Governmental powers and activities have more and more been centralized in the Federal Government. Local self-government, which is the bulwark of liberty, has been invaded, impaired and threatened with destruction.

The continued breaking down of the restraints of the Constitution on Federal Government; the continued usurpation of state powers, rights and functions by the Federal Government; the continued impairment of local self-government must result inevitably in Federal empire and a vast bureaucratic establishment regulating all the affairs of the American people.

The American people probably do not fully realize what is happening, but they are beginning to realize it. They are beginning to understand what Federal expansion and Federal interference with business and personal conduct mean in the destruction of initiative, the hampering of industrial and commercial activities and the impairment of individual rights and liberties. We have gone far on that road, and there are signs of popular revolt. They are gratifying signs.

It is high time for the American people to check the imperial movement. It is high time to decide once and for all whether we shall retain the republic, or undertake empire; whether we shall have constitutional government, or government from Washington by Federal bureaus. That is the big issue, and includes all the lesser issues.

VERA'S VENGEANCE.

From all accounts the Countess Cathcart has committed a dreadful piece of esthetic turpitude. Her play, "Ashes of Love," produced in Washington, with the Countess herself in the leading role, broke the agony record which was established by the Cherry Sisters many years ago. Strong men wept and women swooned, and Thespis turned in his immortal grave as Vera, in her first appearance on the stage, enacted what proved to be the story of her life—the marriage to the elderly Earl of Cathcart, the elopement with the young Earl of Craven, the desertion of the Earl and the forlorn return to London.

In this harrowing manner does the Countess wreak vengeance upon the United States for its effort to bar her from these shores. Such is the penalty for scolding the old adage about a woman scorned.

ORGANIZED CHARITY'S COST.

If Mayor Miller had anything other than conjecture to back up his opinion, in a speech before the Republican Women's Club, that the money annually contributed by St. Louisans for organized charity is not expended economically, he should have validated his assertion with facts. It would be lamentable if the people withheld proper support to the 50 welfare agencies in the Community Fund and the other charities on account of lack of trust in their sincerity and efficiency.

L. Wade Childress, general chairman of the Community Fund, called the Mayor's attention to the careful auditing of the fund by the Chamber of Commerce Charities Indorsement Committee and also a merchants committee. Also to the fact that the creation of the fund has reduced the number of "drives," combining 30 into one. The Catholic and Jewish charities also resented the Mayor's insinuations as to efficiency and that salaries are permitted to absorb a great part of the money raised.

The analysis of the municipal charitable institutions, in Monday's Post-Dispatch, showing that salaries and wages absorb more than half the appropriations, is to the point. Charitable work is not less work than other labor, and it is true of it that "the laborer is worthy of his hire." Unless, as in much religious charitable work, the worker gives his or her services for the good of the cause, it cannot be expected that those who are employed in charitable organizations should do so without adequate remuneration. The conditions to guard against are waste, duplication of effort, dishonesty in individuals, imposition by applicants for aid, and cold-blooded neglect due to red tape or lack of sympathy.

St. Louis expects to pay for such labor as is needed for the relief of its suffering and destitute, and the other objects covered by the various charitable organizations, and asks only that the expenses be reduced to a minimum consistent with efficiency. This seems to be the standard view of legitimate organizations.

AN ECHO OF THE WHEELER CASE.

Senator Walsh of Montana has recalled an incident in the Government's prosecution of his colleague, Senator Wheeler, which, he correctly says, should not pass unnoticed. He refers to that "surprise witness," George B. Hayes of New York, upon whose testimony the Government based its hopes of destroying Senator Wheeler officially, professionally and personally.

Hayes testified to an alleged conversation with Wheeler concerning a division of fees for practice in oil lease cases before the Interior Department. The testimony was refuted. The "surprise witness" was utterly discredited. The jury, as Senator Walsh says, regarded the tale as incredible. Hayes disappeared. From that day until Mr. Walsh's speech in the Senate Monday his name, so far as we are aware, has not appeared in print.

It is obvious, of course, that Hayes either told the truth on the witness stand at Great Falls or he committed perjury. In the circumstances the possibility of error cannot fairly be conceded. No man competent to testify in any suit in any court could conceivably imagine that a Senator of the United States had proposed and discussed in detail an illegal partnership which, if discovered, meant the loss of his office, the loss of his good name, the loss of every thing any man of honor prizes, and, finally, the stigma of a prison sentence. Yet that is what Hayes, under oath, declared Senator Wheeler had done.

The question raised by Mr. Walsh is, can a witness so testify against a Senator and go unpunished? Other questions, in our judgment, are equally pertinent. Who is Hayes? What is his standing as a lawyer and a man? Did the Government make proper inquiry as to those points? Did it satisfy itself as to Hayes' competence and trustworthiness before it accepted him as the witness that was to ruin Wheeler? If it did not, then the Government official responsible for introducing Hayes as a witness failed ethically, failed morally, failed on every count in the code of personal and professional decency. And the offending official, whoever he is, should be answerable to some tribunal—preferably the Senate of the United States—just as the perjurer, Hayes, should be.

If the Department of Justice of the United States, through a subordinate, stoops to the level of the jockey lawyer to win a case and assassinate a Senator's character, he has committed a crime that calls for an accounting.

THE PRESIDENT'S FATHER.

The burdens of the presidency range far. They have extended to the modest farmhouse in the hills of Vermont where Col. John C. Coolidge, the President's father, is battling gallantly against the tide of the years.

The neighbors tell the story. An old note, so old that it was new, was struck in the scene enacted on that August night in 1923. In the light of a kerosene lamp Calvin Coolidge took the oath of President of the United States, administered by his father. There was something tremendously impressive in the simplicity of it, something fundamental, something racy of the soil. The great world that called the son made its way to the home of the son's father.

Col. Coolidge, true to the faith of himself and his forebears, met the obligations thrust upon him. The constant stream of visitors who came to see the President's birthplace were all received. Letters poured in from thousands who could not make the journey, and they were dutifully answered by the proud old man. The rugged health yielded under the pressure, and that, the neighbors say, is the price Col. Coolidge has paid for his son's fame.

He paid it gladly. In these last three years of his life Col. Coolidge has known a thrill and glory which, in the nature of things, few men can experience. The country watches the fight the rugged old Vermont is making, and earnestly hopes he will win it. But, win or lose, the country knows that John C. Coolidge has walked the heights of parental pride. As father of the President he has been king of life and can meet death smilingly.

THE UGLY TRUTH AT LAST.

Hugh Fullerton, writing in the current issue of Liberty, explains why Dempsey will never fight Wills. It is not a simple explanation, either. Dempsey is not afraid of Wills and the black man is not afraid of Dempsey. Nothing like that. The answer is racial. It plunges deep into our mass psychology. It deals with what Lathrop Stoddard calls "the rising tide of color."

In short, the Ethiopian in the woodpile is not an Ethiopian at all. He's a Nordic! There you have it. Tex Rickard, a close student of our national mind, had the complete and erudite prognosis before Sport Writer Fullerton in an interview.

"To have Dempsey fight Wills," said Rickard, "would bring about race riots all over this country." The inference of this remark is that those who control boxing in America are rather afraid Wills would lick Dempsey. Would the Nordics stand for that? They would not, says Rickard. Twenty million 100-per-centers might spring to arms and in a universal chaos of internecine strife reestablish the supremacy of the white man.

A great debt is therefore due Promoter Rickard for saving us from the Wills-Dempsey match and its horrible aftermath. He ought to be crowned with whatever is handy.

HERODOTUS.

An unsophisticated cuss
Was pleasant old Herodotus.
Born B. C. 484.
He left posterity a store
Of tales I wish had not some more.
Josephus, Choro, and Strabo
And many another wise gabbo.
Including great Thucydides
And Lucian, said he lied with ease.
Of course, he said he looked upon
The temple Bel at Babylon.
The temple it beautiful and fair,
(He must have had some homebrew rare.)
The poor old soul was never there.
And that, to make his picture plain,
He had a horse and voice and mane.
Well, let it go at that, I say.
If he had lied and got away
With it so long, then let it stay.
If he was prone to dream and lie,
The tales he told shall never die.
So it is a kind of muss
That makes you want to fight and cuss
Read friendly old Herodotus.

A. G. HALTERMAN.

Archaeologists recently opened the tomb of an Egyptian farmer whose time was about 2500 B. C. They found that this man, who was of about the class of our rich city men with country places, had owned and operated a large farm with benefit of just about as good farm implements as we have today. He lacked some of the mechanical triumphs of modern farm machinery, but not many. For instance, it had been supposed that Egypt never knew anything better than the one-handed plow. Not so. This farmer walked straight behind them with a line drawn around his neck, precisely as you and I did when we lived on the farm. The certainty is that farming suffered something of a collapse in Egypt. It knew its heyday, and then knew them not. The archaeologists are now looking for the tomb of the Egyptian Coolidge. When they find that they will know the story.

In a prohibition poll at Hardin College, Mexico, Mo., one girl voted for repeal of the dry law. It beats all how the country people have reversed themselves on this question.

HOW COUNTRY PEOPLE AMUSE THEMSELVES.

(Monroe County (Mo.) Appeal.)
S. L. Hensley, prominent Cape Girardeau County farmer, has inserted a newspaper advertisement in the "last and found" column in which he reverses the usual procedure. He found a knife and is offering a reward of $5 for the name of the owner. He picked up the knife in his chicken house.

Sir: The writer feels that he owes you an explanation, and possibly an apology as well, in connection with that extraordinary ailment which your readers are asked to try to imagine Sam Weller afflicted with in my contribution which you were good enough to publish in today's Just A Minute column. The fact of the matter is that what I wanted to cite as something of several things utterly unimaginable was Sam with the blues, and for the moment, as I wrote, I thought "mulligins"—not Mulligins—as I mistakenly put it down—was a slang term for the blues. I found out too late, and considerably to my dismay, that it denotes a cold!

Recollect what Sam Johnson gave as his reply to the fair friend who asked him how he happened to define "patern" as the "knee of a horse." "Ignorance, madam, pure ignorance." That's precisely the case with the writer when he inadvertently made use of the word "mulligins." I am tickled to death to note that it was changed in the printing to "mulligins," though what that unsatisfying combination means is beyond me. It serves very well, however, to cover up my absurd mistake—for which, thanks, I. W. S.

Sir: Here is one cloud that has no silver lining. It is the smoke pall that hangs forever over St. Louis. Under a cloudy southern sky our romance blossomed. I returned to St. Louis. Shortly afterward she followed me to look over the prospects. Having a nice eye for color and with the usual feminine anticipation of the seasons, she started out fresh as a May day. I stepped high in Rotarian phrases (to interpret the city for her) and in an esthetic mood, purchased a 10-cent excursion to heaven atop a bus.

Toward nightfall we strayed back. In the bright lights of the hotel lobby we both looked at each other and both simultaneously realized it was a mistake. The aura of romance had vanished. Both of us appeared to have been born and raised in a Wahash day coach.

I did not ask her how she liked St. Louis. I did not dare.

"It is too late now. She has gone back home to the southland—forever. But for the sake of others and with spring just rounding the corner, can't you do something to save romance in this soft cold Eden?"

Gentlemen, I am proceeding in the manner that the City Counselor advised me to proceed, and I was advised that there was no rule of evidence, that the proceedings should be informal and that there is no law relating to the manner and custom of the testimony, or the kind of testimony, and I am justified in forming my conclusions upon any kind of testimony, suspicious inspirations or ambitions.—The Mayor.

or if not that, what have you?

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

NORTHLIFFE AND THE NEW YORK WORLD.

DON C. SEITZ in McNaught's Monthly.

AS I was then attached to the World in a department requiring much activity, Joseph Pulitzer, in his prime as a stimulator, wished me to know the maker of the Daily Mail. An appointment was made for 10 a. m., which chance to be the chief young publisher's bathing hour. He had been out late the night before. That we might converse more readily he pushed open the door of the bathroom, and while he steamed and splashed, we discussed journalism here and abroad.

Nothing could have been more cordial in his manner, withal somewhat damp. It seemed to me that he spent a good deal of time taking his tub, but I had not thought of it. He did not know the Joneses of England and did not know the Joneses must have felt at wallowing in a deep steam-bath tank with an unlimited water supply in contrast with the tin contraption out of which he dangled his limbs in Britain.

The Daily Mail was then a best-seller from the million class, but very successful. It was limited to four pages a day. This point interested Mr. Pulitzer. The Evening World was struggling its eight pages to accommodate business. He had heard that Harmsworth limited his advertising space and had a long way to try the experiment in New York. Pulitzer, to celebrate the occasion, had an advertiser want his ad when he wanted it and is not inclined to go on a waiting list.

Harmsworth next came to New York in the last days of 1897. Brooklyn had voted to absorb New York and the union was to take place at midnight, but as the day-first of December began Jan. 1, 1898. To celebrate the occasion he took possession of City Hall Park and rejected outwardly with thunder and flame. For further elation, the editor of the Daily Mail had been invited to edit our morning paper for one night only, just as he dashed, please, he elected to run the sheet in tabloid form. In solemn appreciation of the great occasion, the staff, with the exception of Pomeroy Burton, then city editor, donned evening dress. Burton refused to join in what he thought was an affectation. Curiously enough, after a few years, the notorious Burton became a partner of Harmsworth and a baronet after the World War.

The visitor did not get out a very good newspaper, but he cheered the place up and was good fun, while Mr. Harmsworth, slender, black-eyed and charming, made friends with all of us. Like a good Englishman, he was clad in dinner dress and so was not out of place and surroundings. For one thing he talked with everybody. Indeed, no man ever loved his profession more, or took keener delight in talking about it.

LIFE EXPECTANCY.

From the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.
LIFE insurance figures reveal that Great Britain leads the world in its expenditure, with the United States second, and France and Germany following in close order. At birth the British male has a life expectancy of 56 years, while the average British female may look forward to four years more of existence. In this country the figures are 50 for males and 52 for females. The reader may write his "head" for this.

NEW ST. LOUIS PASTOR A FOE OF BIGOTRY

The Rev. Dr. M. Ashby Jones
Opposed K. K. K. and Anti-Evolution Movements.

The Rev. Dr. M. Ashby Jones, who will assume the pastorate of the Second Baptist Church, Kingshighway and Washington boulevard, Easter Sunday, April 4, coming from Atlanta, Ga., has earned a reputation there as an opponent of bigotry.

He accepts the scientific theory of evolution and has opposed the Ku Klux Klan at its birthplace. His views convey the inference that in matters of doctrine he is not a fundamentalist, though neither is he a modernist; he might be described as a modern-fundamentalist.

Dr. Jones is conducting noon-day Lenten services for the Church Federation at the Olympic Theater this week, demonstrating his force as a speaker on religious subjects. When a Post-Dispatch reporter talked with him today he recalled the statement of another preacher, who had told an interviewer, "I'm not afraid of being found out of not being found."

Opposed Evolution Bills.
He fought two anti-evolution bills in the Georgia Legislature a year ago, before the famous trial at Dayton, Tenn., and they were defeated. A month ago he spoke against a resolution, which was defeated in the Atlanta Board of Education, to bar text books having statements in conflict with the biblical account of creation as given in Genesis.

"My opinion," he said, "is twofold. The State has no right to say legislation that the Bible is a divine book; that is distinctly religious legislation, assuming to interpret the Bible. The other point is that no school ought to shut children out from knowledge of what the scientific world is thinking, whether it approves of that thinking or not. I spoke on the subject from pulpits and appeared before the board."

"I frankly accept the general scientific teaching of evolution as not being in conflict with the Christian religion. My faith is not dependent on the truth or untruth of evolution or any other teaching of physical science."

Views of Evolution.
"I have no fight to make for or against evolution, but protest against identifying Christianity with the teaching of any scientific theory. I have had as free a pulpit in Atlanta as a man ever wanted and enjoyed an enthusiastic and cordial support from the best people of the State."

The fact is that various civic organizations adopted resolutions asking Dr. Jones to remain in Atlanta. Turning to the subject of the Ku Klux Klan, he said: "Very frankly, at the time it originated, and from time to time since, I have particularly stood out against the secret membership of the Klan and its covered faces, and against its discrimination along the lines of race and religion."

Dr. Jones is not prepared to discuss plans for his ministry here, before studying conditions. He pointed out that Second Baptist has been distinctly a "family church," but realizes now the necessity of enlarging its sphere to minister in general to the surrounding diverse community.

A Native of Virginia.
Born in Lexington, Va., 57 years ago, Dr. Jones, an energetic, bright-eyed man, has the characteristic accent of the Virginian. His father, the Rev. J. William Jones, was minister to Gen. Lee in the war of the states. He was educated at Washington and Lee University, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and the University of Virginia, and is a member of Alpha Alpha fraternity, which has many noted Southern ministers, and of Phi Beta Kappa.

Ordained in 1895, his first pastorate was at Tate's Creek and Richmond, Ky. He served at other Kentucky, Virginia and Georgia churches, and in 1917 went to the city of Leon Avenue Church, Atlanta. There he became active in civic affairs. His son is vice president in charge of advertising of the Coca-Cola Co.

Next week Dr. Jones will conduct Lenten services at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Richmond, Va., his former home. One of the most widely-known ministers of the South, Dr. Jones will be the third pastor at Second Baptist Church in half a century. Before him were Rev. Dr. W. C. Bittling, who resigned a year ago, and Rev. Dr. W. W. Boyd.

BARBARA BAY TO WED ENSIGN GELLHORN

Her Engagement to St. Louis
Navy Man Is Announced at Attractive Luncheon.

An engagement of unusual social interest is that of Miss Barbara Bay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield C. Bay, of 6429 Cecil avenue, and Ensign George Gellhorn Jr., U. S. N., stationed at San Pedro, Cal., son of Dr. and Mrs. George Gellhorn, of 4366 McPherson avenue. The news was told today at an attractive luncheon given in honor of the bride-to-be by Mrs. David Davis Walker III at the home of her mother, Mrs. John C. Hall in Webster Groves.

The table centerpiece was a miniature ship surrounded by flowers, and at each place were place cards on which were painted destroyers with a cord from the rail of each to which was fastened a candy life preserver with the names of the engaged couple.

Miss Bay is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, class of 1925, and is now on board the battleship Oklahoma, with the Pacific fleet.

The wedding will take place the latter part of September. Miss Bay's sister-in-law, Mrs. William B. Leedy Jr. of Birmingham, formerly of St. Louis, after her return, Mrs. Leedy's trip to St. Louis this winter was postponed because of a cruise to Honolulu. She will return to Birmingham March 24.

Mrs. Halsey C. Ives of 14 North Kingshighway and her daughter, Miss Callie Ives, will sail in April for a trip to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo A. Layman, who occupied the Albert Blair home on Westminister place for several months, have taken an apartment at 4925 West Pine boulevard.

Miss Dorothy Maxwell, daughter of Harold Maxwell of the Kingsbury Apartments, is expected home next week for the Easter holidays. She is a student at Wells College.

Miss Wilhelmina Howard, who makes her home with her grandmother, Mrs. W. P. Howard of 370 Walton avenue, will spend part of the spring vacation with classmates in Bermuda. She will then join her father, F. M. Howard in New York for a few days before going to Northampton, Mass., to resume her studies at Smith College.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lionberger Davis will return to school and Mrs. Conner will join some friends in Paris for the season. At the close of school in June Dr. Conner will join the party, and they will motor through France and England returning to St. Louis early in October.

INTEREST IN POLITICS AT EBB, WRITER SAYS

Clark McAdams Addresses
Women Voters' League Class
on Foreign Affairs.

The decline of public interest in news affecting government and politics was the topic of a talk yesterday by Clark McAdams of the Post-Dispatch editorial staff before the primary school in foreign affairs at Hotel Chase.

The nation is without a national political issue at this time," McAdams said, "unless prohibition be regarded as a political issue and many insist that it is not. It is proposed to say that there is national interest in the tariff, in Muscle Shoals, in the aluminum trust, even in the World Court. A social pulmotor was applied to groups of college students and other people to gain a semblance of interest in the Court, but there is no general interest."

"The greatest victory the Republican party ever had—that of last election—was not a reward of the corruption of the Harding administration. It was merely reflection of public apathy. Fewer than 50 per cent of the voters went to the polls. Secretary Houston remarks that in the critical days immediately preceding America's entry to the World War, he tried to sound sentiment on the Pacific coast and could arouse no discussions except upon the possibilities of the citrus industry on the west coast. No interest."

"The interest of male voters in national questions is wearing out. The new women voters never have aroused an interest in government. Yet who reads the news of government? Does interest in such news compare with society news, crossword puzzles and the clap-trap that goes to make up an entertaining press? Did anyone ever see a woman reading political news on a street car? Does anyone hear women discuss politics, except for surface reflections? Of course not."

Newspapers cannot be expected philosophically to continue to poke news about government under our noses if no one wants to read it. Newspapers cannot be blamed if, in time, they abandon news of government."

Italy during April, both daughters will return to school and Mrs. Conner will join some friends in Paris for the season. At the close of school in June Dr. Conner will join the party, and they will motor through France and England returning to St. Louis early in October.

By this act it sought to establish as a legal fact the great humane principle that 'The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce.' While the passage of the Clayton amendment to the Sherman Antitrust law marked a great moral advance on the part of organized labor in its opposition to the injunction process it has been found, from a study of the judicial interpretations which have been applied to the Clayton act, that it does not offer a full and satisfying legal remedy. A very important achievement which came to organized labor through the passage of the Clayton act was the establishment of the right of trial by jury in all cases of alleged criminal contempt where it was charged that such alleged criminal contempt was committed outside the presence of the Court."

PROPOSAL TO LET
10 JURORS DECIDE
CRIMINAL CASES

Hogan, after four retrials, was acquitted last week in Union.

Directing attention to the unavoidable errors that may be made by a trial court in giving instructions, Judge Grimm said:

"Such errors and slips are unavoidable, but they could easily be corrected if counsel were required by statute to point out the defects of the instruction, and to require this would not work a hardship or injustice upon the defendant. If at the time of trial counsel find no such ambiguity in the instruction as to prevent their presenting the law to the jury correctly in their argument, it is neither fair nor just that on appeal they should be permitted to contend that the jury was probably misled by the wording of the instruction."

Discussing errors of trial judges in rulings on evidence, Judge Grimm said that no preventive for such errors had been found.

"Competent and careful trial judges, familiar with the law of evidence," he said, "commit few errors in this regard, but so long as zealous prosecutors offer incompetent evidence and object to competent evidence offered by defendants, and the courts err in their rulings thereon, just so long will reversals be inevitable, and no thinking person expects perfection in judges or attorneys. Some improvement may be expected when the people exercise more care in the selection of their judges and prosecuting attorneys."

Defective Indictments.
In a consideration of cases reversed because of defective indictments, the report cited a number, including some on which there were reversals on this ground and in some of which the court refused to be technical.

In the Cline murder case in 1915, there was a reversal because the indictment in its conclusion did not give the name of the person murdered, merely charging that the defendant "did feloniously kill and murder." That the name was stated elsewhere in the indictment was held insufficient.

In the Siegel fraudulent voting case in 1915 the word "feloniously" was omitted from the information and the conviction was reversed. In the Burgess embezzlement case a year later the Court held it was not necessary that the information charge the embezzlement was "felonious."

In 1916 the Wade gambling case was reversed because the information did not sufficiently describe the craps table, the decision overruling a long line of cases which had sustained informations containing the same description.

Reversal on Technicality.
In the Evans burglary case in 1919, the information was held defective because it did not set out whether the company occupying the premises was a corporation or a partnership. Previously the Court had held that it was not necessary in a railroad station burglary to allege the railroad was incorporated.

In 1922 the Court reversed a murder conviction verdict against one Jamerson. The information charged that the defendant shot L. H. Brannon "giving him, the said L. H. Brannon, three mortal wounds, of which mortal wounds the said L. H. Brannon then and there did languish and languishing did live until the 15th day of September, 1921, did die." The Court held that this language did not show that L. H. Brannon died from the effects of the mortal wounds.

As cases which the Court refused to reverse on technicalities, the report cited the Pfeiffer sex crime case in 1915 in which the word "thrusting" was spelled "thrusing" in the indictment; the murder case in 1919 in which "premeditatedly" was spelled "promediatedly" in the indictment; the Stokes murder case in which the defendant's name was erroneously spelled "Stokes"; the Borders murder case in 1917 in which the indictment failed to allege the place of death of the victim; the Jones arson case in 1917 in which the Court held it was not necessary to allege the name of the owner of the building, and many others.

Volume of Appeals.
The general impression is that the number of cases sent back for retrial by the Supreme Court is very large," Judge Grimm said. "We have seen from the tables prepared and attached hereto that of the cases decided by that court upon argument 43.6 per cent were remanded for another trial. But to get a fair idea of the effect of these decisions upon the enforcement of the criminal law in this state one should know what percentage of criminal cases brought into our trial courts reaches the Supreme Court."

"Without having the statistics for the entire state at hand, we can say that the figures for the City of St. Louis show as to disposition of criminal cases in the Circuit Court between October, 1923, and October, 1924, that of the 1492 cases in which warrants were issued, 492 were disposed of on preliminary hearing, by action of the grand jury, or by transfer of cases to other courts."

"Of the 1000 cases reaching the Circuit Court for disposition, 102 were disposed of by nolle proes, and of 118 cases were disposed of by being dismissed for failure to prosecute, some by the indictments being quashed, while a considerable portion were still undisposed of and remaining on the docket."

Trend Away From Technicalities.
In his conclusion, Judge Grimm said: "From the review of the many cases cited and quoted from, we think the conclusion is fully warranted that the Supreme Court of this state has in recent years shown a different and less favorable attitude toward merely technical objections than even in the latter part of the last century. Of course, the Statute of Jeoffais has been amended from time to time and its effect broadened, but aside from that, it seems that the decisions of the court and the language of the judges used in disposition to consider cases on appeal upon their substantial merits and not to grant new trials unless some error has been committed in the trial court which actually was prejudicial to the defendant's rights or prevented his having a fair trial. "While it is true that our criminal procedure is by no means all that could be desired, and that it is still in some respects archaic and cumbersome, we must not forget that no human institution is, or probably every will be, perfect; and while recognizing that there is room for improvement in our civil as well as our criminal law, both in its substantive and procedural branches, we should not close our eyes to the fact that substantial progress has been made—that the legislative branch of the government has shown a decided disposition to free the law from the merely formal and unessential, and bring about a situation where cases will be decided upon their substantial merits, and that the Supreme Court, certainly in recent years, has shown a marked desire to give full effect to such legislation."

LARABEE-SHEFFIELD MILLS
MERGE; CAPACITY 26,000 BBLS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 17.—Mills with a total capacity of 26,000 barrels of flour a day are combined under one head, with the sale, announced in Minneapolis, of the Larabee Flour Mills Corporation.

tion to the B. B. Sheffield interests of Minneapolis. The Larabee company, the largest milling concern in the Southwest, operated six mills in Missouri and Kansas and was valued at more than $6,000,000. The deal recalled that reports were in circulation several months ago that several companies had agreed to form a combine. At that time the Sheffield company was declared to be interested with the Kansas City Flour Mills Co. and the Valley-Spice Milling Co. of St. Louis in a merger of their plants. A New York banking firm was reported as attempting to bring about the arrangement. The Larabee mills are at St. Joseph, Mo.; Wellington, Kan.; Hutchinson, Kan.; Clinton, Mo.; Marysville, Kan. and Topeka, Kan.

LOSS TO SCHOOLS
IF TAX PLAN FAILS

Building Would Have to Stop, Board of Education Speaker Says.

An annual loss of $2,770,587 would be suffered by the St. Louis public schools if a return to the tax rate of 60 cents on the $100 valuation should be necessitated by a defeat of the 55-cent rate proposition at the special election next Tuesday, Ben Weidle, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Education, declared yesterday before the Scottish Rite club meeting at the American Hotel.

"To absorb such a loss of revenue would require the cessation of all school construction activities," Weidle said. "It would require a reduction in salaries all along the line. It would mean the closing of night schools and perhaps the discontinuance of free textbooks. The result of the false economy would be found in the pinched brain of the child who had been taught by underpaid individuals with poor equipment."

Weidle read figures on School Board receipts and expenses. In the year 1924-25 receipts and expenditures were approximately $11,600,000. For 1925-26 income on the 55-cent basis has been estimated at $10,799,855.47, and a budget has been prepared which calls for the expenditure of $11,420,097.85. The budget would have to be cut more than $2,000,000 if the tax proposition failed to receive a majority "Yes" vote.

Meetings in the interest of the 55-cent school tax are announced for today as follows: 12:15 p. m., Co-operative Club; 2 p. m., Wednesday Club; 3 p. m., Peabody School Mothers' Circle; 3:30 p. m., LaCade School Mothers' Circle; Lafayette School Mothers' Circle; Patrick Henry Mothers' Circle; 7:30 p. m., Emerson School, Meramec School, Oak Hill School; 8 p. m., Bates Patrons' Association, Glasgow School, Twenty-Seventh Ward Republicans; 8:30 p. m., Jefferson Evening School.

DUBLIN MILITARY DISPLAY
FEATURES ST. PATRICK'S DAY

All Business Suspended but Natives Must Travel to Follow Practice of "Drowning Shamrock." A Cable to the Free-Press and the Chicago Daily News, Copyright 1926. DUBLIN, March 17.—The chief feature of St. Patrick's Day in Dublin was an imposing military display by all the units of the national army, which after open air mass at Collins Barracks, marched through the principal streets, amid admiring crowds, to College Green, where the Minister of Defense reviewed them.

The army has been reduced from 50,000 to 15,000 and the goal is to limit expenditures on it to 2,000,000 pounds sterling, but the equipment is of high quality and the training scientific and the troops showed no inferiority in appearance to the best British displays.

The day is a compulsory public holiday, all business being suspended and all freight trains ceasing to run. The controversy as to whether the day would be "dry" or "wet" was settled with a compromise making the holiday, for drinking purposes, the same as Sunday. Nobody but bona fide travelers can follow the traditional practice of "drowning" and the Shamrock. As most people are making their holiday travel more than five miles, the restriction is not seriously felt.

But the regulations have crippled the evening banquets. These banquets, which are exempting them from licensing laws.

Whisky and Beer Seized. On a tip that whisky was made and sold at 5912 Water street, police yesterday raided a house at that address without a search warrant and confiscated 25 gallons of whisky in kegs and 400 bottles of beer concealed under the floor of a shed. They arrested Vance De Louhe, 64 years old.

PROPOSED INCREASE IN FREIGHT RATES CANCELED

Action Will Save St. Louis Shippers About $250,000 a Year, It Is Stated.

St. Louis shippers will save about $250,000 a year through cancellation of the State Public Service Commission last Saturday of a proposed increase of freight rates between St. Louis and Kansas City and St. Joseph, Traffic Commissioner Coyle of the Chamber of Commerce has announced.

The increase was proposed, Coyle asserted, after conferences between the carriers and a "so-called Shippers' Steering Committee," largely comprising competing Chicago industrial interests. "The decision," Coyle went on, "leaves St. Louis with a better differential to Missouri River points than Chicago, which is the result we were seeking to obtain. An increase would have jeopardized the whole class rate structure of Northern Missouri."

Rates to the same points from East St. Louis are higher, but a committee of the St. Louis-East Side Traffic Conference is asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to equalize this.

3000 PIECES OF WOOD USED IN MAKING VIOLIN

Matches Glued Together by William Lee Allen, Madison Cabinet Maker.

More than 3000 pieces of wood, including matches and a clothes pin, were used by William Lee Allen, a cabinet maker, of 1031 Market street, Madison, in making a unique violin which he is now displaying to his friends as a curiosity. A conventional Stradivarius model instrument is made up of about 70 pieces.

Allen's violin has for a body a layer of matches held together with carpenter's glue with toothpicks filling in the chinks. Blocks of red cedar are placed inside for reinforcement of the shell and the conventional hard rubber tailpiece to which the strings are fastened is affixed to a stub made of a clothespin head.

The material in the violin cost its maker $1.50, including strings, the tailpiece and a hardwood neck which he purchased ready made. The instrument was made in three weeks in which Allen worked three hours a day. The instrument has a good tone and Allen hopes to play it in a radio concert to show it has capabilities even though it is a structural curiosity.

EX-CONVICT IS IDENTIFIED

AS FERGUSON BANK ROBBER
Woman Says Suspect Pointed Revolver at Her in 2426

Holdup.
Harry Beebe, 36 years old, an ex-convict, living at 939 North Broadway, was identified today by a woman witness as one of the three men who held up the Bank of Ferguson, Jan. 6, and escaped with $2426.71.

He was arrested last night on suspicion after a series of safe robberies in the neighborhood of his home. Mrs. C. S. Stohmann of Ferguson looked at him this morning and declared he was the man who pointed a revolver at her while another robber held up Harry A. Binbeutel, cashier of the bank.

Beebe denied he knew anything about the bank robbery. The Ferguson bank was robbed twice by three men, the first time on Sept. 3, 1925, when $4155 was taken. On the last occasion the robbers fled in a stolen automobile which was pursued for several miles on Florissant road.

GAS ON: MAN FOUND ON FLOOR

Wife Sends Husband to Hospital; Condition Serious.

When Mrs. Edna Anstler returned to her home at 8215 Dewey avenue, at 3 p. m. yesterday, she found her husband, George, 34 years old, lying on the kitchen floor near a gas stove, the burners of which were turned on, but were not lighted.

Anstler was taken to St. Anthony's Hospital, where his condition was described as serious. No explanation has been obtained. He is an ice and coal dealer.

Gas Pressure Makes Women Nervous

Many women who have stomach trouble are bothered just as Mrs. A. Smith was. She writes that gas from undigested food caused heart palpitation and constipation and made her very nervous. After taking the mixture of bismuth, soda, ginger, etc. (known as Adierka), she is well.

Many people keep the OUTSIDE body clean but let their INSIDE body stay full of gas and poisons. Give the inside a REAL cleansing with the mixture of bismuth, soda, ginger, etc. as sold under the name of Adierka. This acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels, eliminates metabolic poisons and removes old matter which you never thought was in your system, thus clearing your stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, etc.

Whenever you eat too much heavy food, let Adierka REMOVED the undigested surplus and leave you feeling fine. One spoonful of Adierka gas and takes away that full, bloated feeling. Even if your bowels move every day, Adierka brings out much additional matter which might cause trouble. Don't waste time with pills or tablets, but let Adierka give your stomach and bowels QUICK relief.

What Doctors Say.
Dr. G. Eggers reports Adierka is the best medicine he has used for 37 years. Dr. J. J. Weaver, a doctor for 50 years, says he knows no medicine better than Adierka.

Dr. L. Langlois prescribes Adierka regularly with 0000 effect.
J. E. Bennett writes: "After using Adierka I feel better than for 20 years. AWTU impurities were eliminated from my system."

Adierka is a big surprise to people who have used only ordinary bowel and stomach medicines because of its REAL and quick action. Sold by leading druggists everywhere. St. Louis: Wolff-Weiss Bros. Drug Store, Enderle Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co. and other leading druggists.

CHICAGO PUBLISHER DISCUSSES JOURNALISM

Walter Strong, Chief Owner of Chicago Daily News, Talks to Students.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, March 17.—The daily newspaper, having become a great manufacturing business, is developing into an institution, of research, education and service, said Walter Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, told graduating students of the University of Chicago at its spring convocation yesterday.

"Having become a gigantic commercial enterprise," said Strong, "in which many millions are invested, and at the same time an influence in millions of lives, the American press is still in the throes of reestablishing itself in accord with new conditions."

He proceeded to suggest that newspapers, having passed through the successive periods of pioneering, of "personal journalism" and of mechanical expansion, are about to enter, are already entering upon a fourth great era, in which they will take their true place as servants of society.

Spirit of the University. In this new era they must absorb the spirit of the university: "to seek, with free mind and unquenchable zeal, for the facts of life; to place in the hands of mankind that greatest equipment for his own control, knowledge of himself, his past and his future."

Yet in place of the deliberation and quiet of the university laboratory, the conditions in the modern newspaper, as described by Strong, are those of large scale industry working under high pressure.

"There comes to a newspaper office each day," he said, "enough material to fill two papers the size of one that is published, 250,000 words, not including the advertising. To accomplish all of this the multiple units of a great printing plant must travel at a lineal speed of 50 miles per hour on many units, to run through the 75,000 miles of paper which must pass through their folders."

It is under such conditions, he continued, that the newspaper must perform a role akin to that of the scientist.

Research Institutions. "In a sense newspapers are already research institutions, working with as much zeal and honesty as the scientist, but confronted inevitably and constantly with 'deadlines.' It is a task whose very difficulty thrills some of us. We must approximate a sense of comparable urgency with those obtained by men of far greater leisure and freed from interruption."

Strong declared America has more honest newspapers now than those of 15 years ago, and that a study of the various departments of the better newspaper, such as those on social movements, health, schools, religion and politics, would reveal an astounding amount of educational guidance, while the service of the foreign correspondents "is beyond determination."

VAN SWERINGEN'S PROFFER

RETURN OF PLEDGED STOCK

Action Is Taken Without Indicating Intention as to Nickel Plate Merger.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 17.—Without disclosing their intention to revise or abandon the Nickel Plate merger plan, recently disapproved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Van Sweringens interests have offered to all stockholders who have pledged their securities in support of the proposal an opportunity to withdraw their deposits.

Through the Nickel Plate deposit committee the sponsors of the billion dollar merger indicating that pending further proceedings under the plan it was deemed "for the best interests of the depositors" to return any stocks deposited upon the surrender of certificates on or before May 1.

Banking interests closely identified with the Van Sweringens interpreted the action as a move to restore to stockholders of the participating roads, complete control over their securities on the ground that it was unfair to tie up stocks under a plan which could only be made operative by material

High Blood Pressure

Shorten Your Life

How to Stop It—Read This.

It may surprise you to know high blood pressure is so serious that insurance companies refuse to issue policies to those who have it. All because it shortens life.

High blood pressure gives little warning and until certain symptoms take hold, you do not know it. They are head pains, flushed face, hot flashes, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and nervousness.

Only a purely vegetable medicine like Norma that drives out the waste matter which clogs the system and forces the heart to do its work can keep the blood pressure down. One bottle of Norma will bring reduction enough to stop the symptoms which distress and worry you.

Norma is a physician's prescription. It worked so wonderfully in his personal practice that it has now been placed in drug stores so that people everywhere can obtain it. High blood pressure by reducing it with Norma.

changes in terms. Although the original agreement drafted in August, 1924, permitted the Van Sweringens to hold the shares for four years, it was held that their release would remove grounds for complaint from any quarter. Whether the consolidation project eventually is abandoned or recast in a new form, the bankers held that the lifting of deposit restrictions would be a preliminary and logical step.

EX-CONVICT ADMITS ROBBING 50 HOMES

Detectives, Arresting Him on Street, Recover Three Suitcases Full of Loot.

More than 50 burglaries in the last three months were explained today with the arrest and confession of James Beaulieu, 35 years old, an ex-convict, living at 1808A North Grand boulevard.

He was recognized this morning by Detective Sergeant Saxe and Grogan, from descriptions furnished by citizens who had seen him near looted homes. He was trailed to his room where detectives found enough stolen clothing, jewelry and household articles to fill three suitcases.

Beaulieu said he was paroled from Joliet, Ill., prison Nov. 29, after serving four years for burglary, and had come to St. Louis, commencing his first burglaries here in December.

He gave the addresses of several homes he had entered and admitted that he looted seven places last Sunday night. His system was to ring a doorbell, and if no one answered, gain entrance with a skeleton key or by forcing a door or window.

The police tracing bureau is checking over the recovered loot and inviting inspection by householders who have been robbed.

CONFESSIONS QUARREL IN BOAT ENDED IN DROWNING OF WIFE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, March 17.—Dr. Raleigh F. Summers, 53 years old, made a confession to police last night that cleared up the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Mary Larue Summers, his common-law wife.

The body of Mrs. Summers was taken from the Missouri River on Sept. 2, 1925, several days after a revel on a houseboat. Roy West, owner of the boat, his wife and several other members of the houseboat party were arrested at the time, but later released.

Dr. Summers said he went to the houseboat and found his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roy West and Clyde Bryant and some others whose names he could not recall. They had all been drinking. He took but one drink, the statement continues.

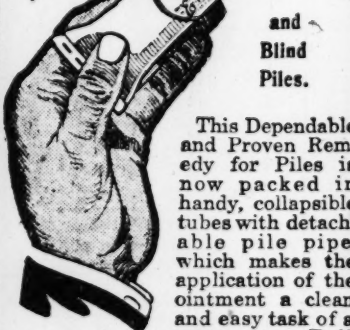

Later, Summers declared, he, with his wife and Clyde Bryant took a boat ride. His wife became angry, and according to the statement, slapped at him. He slapped back and overbalanced her. She disappeared into the river.

Summers and Bryant rowed back to the houseboat, the police were told, and the members of the party pledged themselves to secrecy.

Woman Tries to End Her Life.
Mrs. Mary Rodgers, 22 years old of 4348 Delmar boulevard, is in a serious condition at City Hospital as the result of swallowing an overdose of a drug. She was arrested in front of the Empress Hotel, 5332 Olive street, at 4:15 p. m. yesterday after creating a disturbance. At the hospital Mrs. Rodgers told physicians she took the drug in an attempt to end her life.

ADVERTISING Ocean-O Brought Color To Sick Boy's Cheeks

A man from Rochester, N. Y., walked into the Ocean-O office in December and said:
"I want to thank you personally for what Ocean-O has done for my boy in two weeks' time."

"He has always been pale and lacked sturdiness and strength, but after taking Ocean-O for two weeks, the color has come to his cheeks, he is lively, has a good appetite and is better in every way than he has been for years."

Ocean-O is deep sea water, concentrated and distilled and contains the vitalizing mineral elements of pure, healthy blood. A teaspoonful in half a glass of water is usually enough; that's why a 10-ounce bottle lasts a long time.

For weak, run down, anemic men, women and children, it is a blood, nerve and gland tonic and Walgreen Drug Co. for it. Get a bottle today with the understanding that if it doesn't help you to gain strength, vigor and vitality, you can have your money back.

New Cue Record Set By Reisel

Runs Out 50 Points in 16 Innings in 3-Cushion Match; High Run 14.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—Otto Reisel of this city, in defeating Augie Kiechfer of Chicago in a national three-cushion billiard match, 50 to 23, in 16 innings, established last night what was announced as a world's record.

The former marker was given as 20 innings, made by Gus Copulos of Detroit in Chicago two weeks ago. Reisel, who is leading the championship race, had a high run of 14 in the fourth inning.

In the afternoon match Reisel won, 50 to 46, in 55 innings.

SIX MEN HELD AS RESULT OF FLORIDA LAND SCHEME

Former "Boy Wizard of Wall Street" Among Those Accused by U. S. Prosecutor.

NEW YORK, March 17. — Charles Greenhaus, who became known as the "boy wizard of Wall Street" in 1924, and was indicted for stock swindling, is in trouble over a Florida real estate scheme. Greenhaus and five other men have been arrested at the instigation of United States District Attorney Buckner in connection with the operations of the Griffin Development and Construction Co. He was acting as secretary of the company. He and the president, Harry R. Griffin, are held in $5000 bail each, and four salesmen are held in $2500 bail each, on charges of using the mails to defraud. Greenhaus is 23 years old. His previous troubles were over deals in Middle States Oil stocks, for which he still faces trial.

Investigators say the Griffin company bought several hundred lots in Putnam County, Florida, for $15 to $20 a lot. These were offered to prospects on initial payments of $10 cash and $10 a month until full payment had been met. After one or two payments, the investor would be shown a check for the purchase of his land, provided the investor obtained a clear title by immediate settlement of deferred payments. Then something invariably happened, the authorities claim, which prevented the consummation of the deal and the investor was short.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Strategy.

MICKEY Gaines directed his man, "Keep this gang covered while I hunt the girl. Shoot the first one who stirs." He was off, dashing from the room, flashlight in hand, while Mickey stood grinning at his three prisoners.

"Say," he commented, "you all about had us fooled!"

The two Milanas began a hurried conversation, firing a volley of questions at the old woman who maintained a stolid, glaring silence, while overheard Gaines' footsteps could be heard, running from room to room.

"If I thought you two crooks were in this I'd shoot you where you stand!" he swore as he rejoined the group. "Mickey, stand that old hag against the wall. She's going to speak, or else forever hold her peace!"

The old woman, looking into the barrel of two close-range revolvers, began first to whimper and then to cry loudly for help, her arms outstretched.

"Wants you to rescue her," Gaines commented to the Milanas. "Suspect you're not any more eager to do that than I am. Make her squeal! She understands you. Find out who took the girl! If Walter is behind this he's going to pay a big price!"

The old woman began to pour forth a volume of Spanish dialect, accompanied by protesting gestures and floods of tears, while the two Milanas, hovering over her, implored and threatened.

"What were you damned fools doing?" Gaines flung his first question at his assistants. "I thought I brought trained help down here! Get out and send each man in, one at a time!"

Mickey vanished, and the two assistants, reporting one at a time, assured the detective that every entrance and window had been closely watched, and that no one had entered or left the house.

"We haven't missed a trick. Bom. You brought the girl in and she's still here."

Gaines considered a moment. "Then there is a subterfuge," he said briefly. "Find it while I'm putting this woman through the mill. Milana, what's she telling you?"

"Protests (translates), Milana answered. 'Two she's saying: My God! Can't you make her speak, Gaines?'"

The pistol cracked, a bullet whined through the air, entering the wall a few inches above the old woman's head.

"Talking now!" Gaines asked carelessly. "The next one will get your right hand, and I'm not waiting long, either!"

The woman wept louder and began a fresh torrent of words, interspersed with curses, but this time Gaines could see that she was making some kind of a confession, and he caught enough of it to issue a curt order to Milana.

"Ramon, get that money and bring it here!" Milana, after another question to the Madre, hurried from the room, returning presently with a heavy canvas bag.

"One thousand dollars in gold—Milana's voice shook with rage. She says a Japanese offered it to her for the girl while she was preparing her supper. He gave her some drops to put in Carolina's tea, and hid in the kitchen while we were being served. The Madre has not seen him since!"

"Ask her if it's Walter's work!" Gaines said. "She says that Walter promised her his money within 24 hours! She says she thought she might as well pick up this extra thousand as long as Carolina couldn't win out, anyway! I think she's telling the truth, Gaines."

"Ask her if she ever saw the Japanese before!" Milana complied, reporting: "Yes! He lives here in town, supposed to be a rum runner. Gaines thought rapidly.

"Well," he said, "while we have her under cover we might as well get the whole story. Here," he handed Milana a pencil and paper, "take it down just as she tells it! Just a minute. Here's my man again, what do you find?"

"A trap door in the kitchen leading into a cellar with a long winding passage, heading north. Shall we go through?"

Now of the ring you say was stolen from Mario!"

Then you've seen Walter—you're keeping something back, Gaines! I have to find out what she knows. I can't contain myself longer!"

Gaines waited while Milana, with the greatest difficulty, extracted a full confession from the old Mexican hag, a feat which absorbed a full half hour and required infinite patience. Haltingly, one upon the barrel of Gaines' revolver, she told her story of intrigue, deceit, foul play, revealing the game of blackmail played at concert pitch. She had extracted money from Milana and Walter Reynolds, cheated them both, played them against each other and hoodwinked them so successfully that for 15 years she had been piling up the gold, more and more gold, for herself.

Gaines, catching the drift of the tale, listening with a suspense never exceeded in a lifetime of thrills, knew that the old woman was telling the truth at last. Fear had conquered. She had staved the last act of her drama, the last thousand dollars in gold being the net that had caught her in its final coils.

"Now, then," Gaines warned her, "this man will take you to your room, where you'll stay till we let you go, and if you try to escape we'll shoot you at sight! Understand?"

She understood. Weeping and protesting, calling on a long line of saints to witness her innocence, the madre was led away while Gaines studied her confession, exclaiming as he read. Ramon Milana and his brother sat in the silence of despair.

"I suppose we might as well start for the penitentiary," Mario said bitterly when Gaines had tucked the confession away in his pocket. "Our lives are over! It wasn't worth it!" He shook his fist at his brother. "It was you who did it! You! I told you to keep your mouth shut! Now the whole world will ring with our name!"

"See here," Gaines interrupted him, "you fellows might as well stop accusing each other and listen to me. Neither one of you will go to the pen if you'll tack face about and help me, moreover you'll get your money, every cent of it. You know that all we want is the girl, and I'm convinced that Carolina is our girl. Not only does every thing in the old Madre's confession point that way, but the ring—she was lost in thought.

"You promised to tell of the ring," Milana's dropping spirits had clutched the straw of hope which the detective held out, "do you know who has it now?"

"I can't say who has it now, but Paul Reynolds had it last!"

"Paul Reynolds! Not!" The Milana brothers gazed at each other in amazement. "Then it was he who stole it?" Mario questioned.

"No," Gaines replied. "It was found under the seat of section 3, next to the one in which you were discovered unconscious, supposedly dead."

"And Reynolds claimed it as his own?"

"Yes—I'm wondering how he knew unless Carolina told him. Did she know that you wore the ring, Mario?"

"No."

"We'll have to fathom that mystery at a later date," Gaines was saying when a sound from the rear of the house made him stop speaking and rush to the door.

"Mickey!" he cried as the young American entered, "what did you find?"

"Long underground passage, nearly 100 feet long. I should say, opens up through a trap door in the dirt floor of an adobe shack, apparently deserted."

"Anything in the shack?"

"A cot and table, couple of chairs, miserable looking place."

"And no trace of the girl anywhere?"

Reynolds could be behind this, do you think? He had the ring—I'm wondering."

"He can't be, hasn't had time. And if my wire can catch him before he starts after us we'll have him to work for us at the other end."

"How did he find out, Gaines. I thought he had been kept out of the affair?"

"Can't stop to tell you that now. Ramon shot a second to lose. But I'll say this: He did find out and he's fallen head over ears in love with the girl and the girl with him! If you want anything extra to weigh down your conscience you can put that in your pipe and smoke it! It would be enough to send me scotting right out of the world, but you're used to traveling with that kind of thoughts! On your job now! And keep your head!"

"What makes you trust him?"

Mario Milana asked as Ramon left the house, "how do you know he won't turn traitor to us both? He fooled me all right, made a dupe of me, drew me into this rotten mess, maybe into the pen, for all I know. His bitter soul poured out invectives against the brother."

Gaines lit his pipe, his feet leading him about the room in an incessant tramp. To and fro, up and down, his brows knit, his thoughts absorbed in the problem which confronted him. How to untangle the whole way to turn at this sudden ending of the long trail? The girl had been in his grasp, victory had been about to dawn, and now—unless young Reynolds had been clever enough to follow—unseen!

An uproar of cries and shouts, a blaze of light, burst through the windows, and Ramon Milana's voice came rushing back.

"Bandits!" he cried excitedly, "they're after us!"

CHILD MANAGEMENT

By Dr. D. A. Thom

Stealing is a hard word to apply to the acts of children. It is associated so closely with a criminal career and one so naturally thinks of jails and prisons, highwaymen and robbers, that childhood and this type of delinquency seem almost incompatible.

On the other hand, problems are never solved by dodging the issue. "Of course, we don't consider it stealing when Johnny takes things belonging to me or to other members of the family," said one mother in defense of her 8-year-old boy, and another mother argues that "taking food or pennies is not considered pilfering." Sometimes the juvenile offender is acquitted by the parent on the ground that "he does it in such a cute way" or that "he is so unselfish—he never uses for himself the things he takes but always gives them away." You can't expect a child as young to understand what he is doing.

These are only a few of the numerous excuses by which parents permit themselves to be deceived. Stealing must be considered stealing as soon as the child has developed mentally and socially to the point where he is capable of differentiating his property rights from those of the people with whom he comes in contact. It must not be forgotten that most children are warned at an early age that such acts are against the wishes of their parents without being given any appreciation of the social code called honesty. In such cases the act of stealing is nothing more than disobedience and must be treated as such.

Children naturally absorb from the environment in which they are living a tendency to conform with the social customs of that environment, and they can also give an intelligent reason why such social customs are enforced. When a child reaches this stage in his development, he must be held responsible for his conduct and it is grossly unfair for parents to minimize its significance by refusing to face the issue.

DO'S AND DON'TS

—For—
SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

By NELLIE E. GARDNER

Don't Envy the Boss.

DON'T envy the boss. You may think you do all the work—but he usually earns his pay. Your boss carries the load. You carry the left-overs. You earn your salary. But your boss earns the salary for the entire firm.

When he stops your job stops! If you stop, doesn't he generally find some means to carry on? If his brain stops functioning, if his judgment is in error, if his capital is inadequate, or if his creditors become too harsh, or his debtors too lax, the clock stops ticking and the lights are turned out.

You are only responsible for your small part of the day's work and the monthly turnover, but if the boss does not keep bustling, who signs the checks? Give to your employer your loyalty, admiration and respect. But in fairness to yourself, or in justice to him, never give him your envy.

Just sitting at a desk, dictating letters, answering telephones and keeping "contact lunch" appointments may look easy to the man or woman who measures work in the terms of manual power. If you think it is a snap, what a pity you can not change places!

The brains back of any business is the motor power. No matter how handsome the body of an automobile, without a good engine it will go about as far as a piano bench.

The boss is the engine power of your firm. He not only turns the button that makes the wheels go round, but he must generate the power itself, or nothing happens.

Frequently, in the business world, the employer shows much more sympathy and understanding and appreciation for the work done by the man beneath, than the latter does for the man on top. One reason for this, no doubt, is that the man on top may have risen "from the ranks" and consequently knows from experience how it feels to be down there.

Men and women in business have the bad habit of "slamming the boss." Think it over, and see if most of the ingratitude isn't on that side? Never, in the world's history, has effort of all kinds been so well paid. While we are taking a firm's checks, let us not forget to give our grateful appreciation for favors. Let us stop over-estimating our own worth, and under-estimating the worth and work of the boss. Unless he earns his pay, there will soon be none of us!

THE DATE TREE

March 17, 493—1473 years ago. Death of St. Patrick, the patron Saint of Ireland. Reptiles being rare in the Emerald Isle, the legend got abroad after his death, that it was St. Patrick who had driven the snakes out of Ireland. One version of the story is that when banishing the snakes and the toads, St. Patrick chained a monster serpent to a rock in Lake Druven, telling him to remain there until Monday. Every Monday since, according to neighborhood folk, that serpent calls out in Irish: "It's a long Monday, Patrick!"

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Laundry Paper. The strong brown kind that comes around the laundry is just the thing for the pantry shelves where we keep our pots and pans. It is much more durable than shelf paper and does not soil nearly so easily.

That Troublesome Thread. Try pulling off several yards of sewing cotton or silk from the new spool and rewinding it before using on the sewing machine. This will prevent the silk unraveling off in great quantities and causing the thread to break.

Easier to Match. If there are a number of children in the household and a great deal of mending is necessary, it is wise always to buy the same style and grade of buttons. Then, if one is missing, there is always one to match on hand and a frantic search is avoided.

Baby's Dresses. It is sometimes more convenient to bind the neck and back opening of baby's dresses with fine lingerie tape and tie the ends, in place of a buttoned opening. It is so much easier to tie at the back of the little fellow's neck than it is to button, and besides it may be a little more comfortable for him than a button.

There is now a new way in woman's hygiene. A way scientific and expensive that ends the uncertainty of old-time "sanitary pads." It is called "KOTEX." Eight in every 10 better-class women have adopted it.

You wear sheer frocks and gowns without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day, every business or social demand unhandicapped.

NO LAUNDRY. Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, it banishes danger of mishaps.

Deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL fear of offending.

You obtain it at drug or department stores, simply by saying "KOTEX." Women then ask for it without hesitancy. Costs only a few cents for a package of 12.

No Laundry—discard like tissue

WOMEN HOLDING RESPONSIBLE POSITIONS IN THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Uncle Sam has a number of women on the payroll in Washington who are holding highly important positions with the same brilliancy they have shown in other fields to endeavor. Upper left—Miss Alice Mummenhoff, private secretary to Postmaster General Harry New, one of the most important secretarial positions in the Cabinet.

Center—Mrs. Mabel P. LeRoy, Recorder of the General Land Office under the Secretary of the Interior.

Upper left—Miss Anna O'Neill, Assistant Solicitor in the State Department.

Lower left—Margaret M. Hanna, Chief of the Office of Co-ordination and Review in the State Department.

Lower right—Mary M. O'Reilly, Assistant Director of the United States Mint.

Fashion's Whispers. Gray is heading the most popular color in gloves as the season advances, and there is a big demand for black and white or bright colored trimmings.

Hosiery buyers say there is a strong trend toward somewhat deeper tones of tan, taupe and mauve.

Black satin and black faille coats in cape effects with gray kasha linings are among the latest imports.

Navy blue and black relieved by touches of white will be popular colors for daytime wear, and gray in all tones will be a leading color.

The Care of Suede Shoes. Pale colored suede shoes require some care to keep them beautiful. They will not look well after they have been worn in the rain, so do not wear them on a doubtful day. But if they have been caught in a shower only, continual brushing will soften them again. Some suede shoes wear shiny in patches. The nap is quickly rubbed up by a vigorous application of the wire brush sold at most shoe shops.
